Four Strikes Tangle Life In Texas Cities

TWO-DAY-OLD PHONE TIEUP MOST SERIOUS; BUS OPERATORS OUT

HOUSTON, BEAUMONT, PORT ARTHUR HARDEST HIT BY WORK HALTS

By The Associated Press

A two-day-old strike in Houston silenced telephones there today and in Port Arthur and Beaumont a new strike, called by bus operators, tied up transportation.

Printers of the Beaumont Enterprise and Journal still were striking and the papers were publishing from engraved plates. In Denison, the Jacque Power Saw Company was picketed.

The most serious strike situation was in Houston, where a continuous meeting of members of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Workers Union continued for the second day. Both the union and the telephone company have indicated a willingness to arbitrate, but neither has made the necessary first offer to do so.

The continuous meeting, which took over 2,000 workers from their jobs and halted all operator-serviced calls, was called in protest early yesterday over the promotion of two employes by the company. The union claimed violation of their contract seniority clause. It said the company had bypassed other equally qualified employes with greater seniority.

Meanwhile, emergency calls were being handled by supervisory personnel.

"The union has so far received no offer to arbitrate from the company," Mrs. Jewel Whatley, vice-president of the Southeast Texas Division of the Telephone Union, said. "But in the public interest and in conformity with our contract, the union is willing to submit to arbitration if the company so elects."

In St. Louis, D. L. McCowan, president of the union, said that "there is a strong possibility that members of the union in other cities in Texas may meet soon to determine what action they will take in support of the Houston members."

A strike of city bus line operators began in Beaumont and Port Arthur shortly after midnight. Thousands were late for work when public transportation snarled.

The strike developed over a wage dispute. Early efforts to agree on the appointment of an arbiter to settle the dispute failed, but later today union and management accepted the U. S. Conciliation Service method of selecting an arbiter.

Fantastic, Deadly Weapons Revealed In Hands Of U. S.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—More or less cryptic hints of terrifying new weapons of death came from three directions today.

One was tucked away in Secretory of Commerce Wallace's controversial foreign policy letter to President Truman—a passing but significant reference to radioactive poison gas.

Another was contained in a radio address by Editor-Scientist Dr. Gerald Wendt, who spoke of a "super-deadly" poison so potent a single ounce could kill every person in the United States and Canada.

Far More Powerful.

Finally, Maj. Gen. Alden H. Waitt, chief of the army's chemical corps, frankly acknowledged that his experts have worked with toxic agents that have "power far, very far, beyond anything we had known in previous chemical warfare research."

TELETYPE "TALK" IS HELD; SECRETARY OF COMMERCE SILENCED

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes held a 20-minute "conversation" by Washington-Paris teletype today, but what they said to each other was not disclosed.

It was the first direct exchange between the two since Secretary of Commerce Wallace criticized Byrnes' foreign policy in a speech last week.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross gave reporters only the bare information that the president and his secretary of state had been in communication.

Wallace Silenced

Ross would not say what had passed between them.

Nor did Ross confirm specifically that the Wallace situation was mentioned. The commerce secretary wound up a long conference with Mr. Truman yesterday by anonuncing he will keep silent until after the Paris peace conference is over.

Ross earlier had declared emphatically there had been "no deal" between the president and Wallace in reaching this compromise.

With an operator handling the mechanics, Mr. Truman stood beside a teletype machine in the White House map room to communicate visually with Byrnes. What Byrnes had to say came in on the machine and the president told the operator what to send back in reply.

Phone Service Bad

The chief executive had tried to telephone Byrnes earlier this morning but was prevented by atmospheric disturbances.

At the commerce department, Wallace was sticking to his decision yesterday that he would make no public speeches or statements until the end of the Paris conference. He would not talk with reporters or reply to inquiries.

Wallace was represented by aides as entirely satisfied with the arrangement which was worked out yesterday with President Truman.

Reporters asked Charles G. Ross, the president's press secretary, about some news stories that

ALL BUT ONE OF 80 MEN ACCOUNTED FOR AFTER MINE BLAST

M'COY, Va., Sept. 19.—(AP)—One miner was killed and two others received third degree burns in an explosion which rocked the McCoy mine of the Great Valley Anthracite Coal Corporation today.

Mine officials listed the dead man as John Howell, 55, father of three children.

R. G. Steons, president of the mining company, said 79 men escaped from the mine before emergency crews with gas masks arrived.

New Stands At Tiger Field Be Completed Within Near Future

Construction of the new stands on the east side of the gridiron at Tiger Field is expected to be rushed to completion within the immediate future following the arrival of materials needed, it was revealed this week.

The concrete foundation was poured some time ago and the steel frame arrived from the foundry at Waco this week. The treated lumber from which the seats will be provided is reported to have arrived this week.

Present indications are that the new stands will be available for use by the time there is an acute need.

Corsicana opens the season Saturday night against the Forest Avenue Lions at Dal-Hi Stadium in Dallas. The following week end, Friday, Sept. 27, Mexia Black Cats will invade Tiger Field.

Political Results Of Wallace Fight, Silence, Studied

By D. HAROLD OLIVER.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The temporary muzzling of Secretary Wallace had Democrats privately worried today, although one leader—Rep. Sparkman (Ala)—said for quotation he thought the rift would be forgotten by election day.

Republicans repeated assertions that Wallace should resign. They did not hide their jubilation over the latest development in a situation they previously had regarded as a windfall. The elections are less than seven weeks away.

Democrats Lose Speaker.

Wallace's agreement—after a lengthy showdown conference with President Truman yesterday—not to make any more speeches or statements until after the peace conference in Paris had the immediate effect of depriving the Dmocratic party of a cabinet rank

EPISCOPAL BISHOPS ENDORSE FEDERAL WORLD GOVERNMENT

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church endorsed today a federal world government, characterized as a more effective instrument for world peace than the present United Nations.

An amended resolution which received approval came from the House of Deputies of the 55th triennial general convention where it was introduced by Owen J. Roberts, former associate justice of the U. S. supreme court.

The resolution as approved endorses what the United Nations already accomplished and directs an appeal to the President of the United States and congress to work toward strengthening United Nations powers and at the same time strive for the eventual organization of a more powerful and representative world government.

Farm Equipment Workers Go Back On Job Thursday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The first of 2,200 Allis-Chalmers Company employes idle for five months by a strike of CIO production and maintenance workers returned to their jobs today.

Maintenance workers began preparation of the plant for resumption of full scale operation next week after Local 120 of the Farm Equipment and Metal Workers Union voted 496 to 127 to accept a 13 1-2 cents hourly pay increase. They had demanded 18 1-2 before the strike began April 26.

The company contended that added to a previous 5-cent boost, its 13 1-2 cents offer raised pay to conform with the national wage pattern increase of 18 1-2 cents.

FIVE SURVIVORS ARE REPORTED SIGHTED AT PLANE CRASH SCENE

REST OF 44 ABOARD NOT ACCOUNTED FOR; RESCUE SQUADS SENT

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Coast Guard headquarters reported today that five survivors had been sighted near the wreckage of a crashed Belgian Airliner near Gander, Newfouondland.

Survival kits were dropped to them by searching planes.

The Coast Guard said its North Atlantic patrol reported that the survivors seen included two men, two women and a child. It was not established immediately whether there were others alive.

"Difficult Country."

Th wreckage was reported on a hillside "in very difficult country." The kits were dropped by a Coast Guard plane soon after an inbound Trans-World Airlines plane spotted them.

The Coast Guard said a PBY plane landed with a rescue team on a lake four or five miles from the crash scene and slowly was making its way across rocky, hilly country. Two army rescue teams also were to land near the scene.

Rescue Party Rushed.

Earlier, Sabena, the company operating the plane, said a rescue party was rushing to the scene 22 miles southwest of Gander.

The airliner made a last report to the Gander field at 3:37 a. m. Eastern Daylight Time yesterday when it said it had sufficient fuel to last about eight hours more.

The plane, with a crew of seven and 37 passengers, made an instrument approach to the field at that time, roared overhead and disappeared in fog.

NIGHT PROWLER GETS PISTOL FROM HOME OF POLICE COMMISSIONER

Police Thursday were hunting for a prowler who entered three homes Wednesday night, including that of Police and Fire Commissioner Fred D. Prince, 702 North 25th St.

Prince reported to police that a blue .38 caliber automatic pistol had been taken.

In the same section, homes of the Rev. Finas A. Crutchfied, 1503 Sycamore, and J. D. Nettles, 1401 W. 2nd Ave., were entered.

Rev. Mr. Crutchfield reported loss of $11 to the house prowler.

Nettles reported the loss of jewelry, including a bracelet, a ring with a pearl setting, a ring with a sapphire setting, and a double-string pearl necklace. A blue Colts .33 pistol also was taken.

MILITARY COMMITTEE CALLS FOR DEFENSE RING NEAR RUSSIA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—Five touring lawmakers, home from a six-week far Eastern inspection trip, said today America must strengthen its military and political positions in the Pacific.

Specifically, the five members of the house military committee who traveled 38,000 miles since August 10, said they are convinced of the urgency of building up a strong ring of defenses, reaching within striking distance of Russia.

While insisting that the group's attitude is not one of belligerency toward the Soviet Union, Rep. John E. Sheridan (D-Pa), who headed the subcommittee, told reporters the recommendations are intended to insure against any eventuality. The five will prepare a formal report later.

Texas Temperature Expected To Drop 8 Degrees Friday

By The Associated Press.

A cold front moving down through the Panhandle today was expected to lower temperatures about eight degrees generally throughout the state as it progresses south and east.

The U. S. weather bureau said the front would reach the Dallas area by tomorrow morning and continue to move over the rest of the state tomorrow.

Light rainfall will accompany the front, the weather bureau said.

Considerable cloudiness prevailed over the state yesterday and today, and mild temperatures were reported from all sections.

Heaviest rains fell in the vicinity of Corpus Christi in the past 24 hours, while scattered showers fell over the Eastern section of the state. Panhandle skies drizzled and the entire Gulf coast received light rains.

SUPREME COURT NOT TO CONSIDER PLEA ON BALLOT DISPUTE

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to take jurisdiction in J. Carroll McConnell's fight to obtain the Democratic nomination for associate justice of the Second court of Civil Appeals.

The action in effect affirmed the State Democratic Convention's nomination and certification of Earl P. Hall of Henrietta as the party candidate for the Northwest Texas judicial post.

The court overruled McConnell's motion for leave to file a petition for mandamus to compel Democratic party officals to certify his name. The Fort Worth lawyer had conducted a write-in campaign for the post after the death of Justice Marvin H. Brown, and claimed more than 700 votes.

Brown died after it was too late to file for a place on the ballot and Gov. Coke Stevenson named Hall to the unexpired term. Hall was recommended to the state convention by 12 county conventions as the nominee for the full term.

The supreme court issued no opinion or notation in refusing for the second time to accept jurisdiction.

The center was 5,000 kilometers from Miami.

Gilmore said the definite location of the shock was not determined but added that "it appears to have been in Chile."

Diplomatic Rank Raised.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19—(AP)—After 70 years of diplomatic relations, the United States and Egypt agreed today to raise their respective missions in Cairo and Washington to the rank of embassy, and to exchange ambasasadors.

The state department, in announcing the change, said President Truman will name S. Pinkney Tuck, present American Minister to Egypt, as the first United States ambassador to ha country.

Wallace Dispute Quieted, Policy Examination Seen

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The tempest over Henry Wallace may quiet down now—for a while at least—since he's agreed temporarily not to make any more speeches.

For a whole week there's been international excitement over Wallace: What he said in a speech last Thursday night and what he wrote earlier to President Truman in a letter which Wallace made public Tuesday night.

In the speech and the letter Wallace urged a softer United States attitude toward Russia. And he suggested ways in which he thought the two nations might work better together for peace.

Critical of Policy.

In both he was critical of our foreign policy, a policy laid down by President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes.

But many people may have been diverted from a critical analysis of Wallace's ideas by the extraordinary circumstances surrounding the delivery of the speech and the release of the letter.

Maybe now, with the excitement dying down a bit, those who are interested in what Wallace has to say will take time to analyze carefully what he said, and the implications in what he said.

Judge For Selves.

In this way they can judge for themselves.

Because in his speech Wallace suggested we stay in our backyard, and keep out of Russia's backyard, he has been criticized as proposing isolationism.

'RBITRATION AWARD SAID TO REMOVE ALL OBSTACLES TO WORK

PARITY REPORTED FOR UNION SEAMEN UNDER NEW WAGE DECISION

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—East and Gulf Coast ship operators late today agreed with the arbitration award to the CIO National Maritime Union for parity pay with the AFL men, announced earlier by James L. Fly, federal arbitrator, and said they saw no necessity for the continuation of the NMU strike.

By The Associated Press

An arbitration award by James L. Fly, federal arbitrator, in the case of the CIO National Maritime Union today placed NMU seamen and others on parity with AFL ship personnel and provided what Fly described as an adequate basis for the immediate resumption of all shipping activities.

Fly's award was on collateral issues of a June 14 agreement which averted a nation-wide CIO maritime strike then. Operators and the union had agreed to accept his ruling.

Declaring West Coast workers not directly affected by the decision, Fly said, "This award affects the West Coast in that it affords a basis for a back-to-work movement x x on the West Coast."

Salary increases chiefly of from $5 to $10 a month are provided by the award. The present wage scale for the NMU seamen affected is $172.50 a month.

Work Resumption Urged

Fly said, as he announced the award in New York City, that he was requesting all seagoing personnel to return to work immediately and asserted there was no longer a cause for the paralysis of shipping on all coasts. He said he would ask all ship operators, particularly those on the West Coast, to reinstate all men on strike.

"With very few exceptions," the award places the men on parity with other unions," Fly said. "Retroactivity will be on the same basis as settlement of the Seafarers International Union (AFL) dispute. Where there still remain some inequities on matters not completely adjusted, they can be settled by negotiation. These are so incidental there is no reason to prolong the strike."

Earlier, NMU President Joseph Curran had blamed "mysterious forces in high government circles" and the "arbitrary attitude" of J. B. Bryan, head of the Pacific American Shipowners Association, for delaying a quick end of the strike.

Curran's reference to Bryan was in regard to the continued refusal of West Coast operators to meet with the Marine cooks and Marine firemen representatives until the men return to work.

Chinese Red Chief Says U. S., Russo War Talked There

By BETTY GRAHAM

Veteran China Correspondent.

(Written Especially For the AP.)

SHANGHAI, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Chou En-Lai, No. 2 Chinese Communist, announced today he had quit the Nanking peace negotiations and asserted the Chinese and American governments' Far Eastern policies are based on the assumption there will be a Russo-American war, with China as an important base.

Chou, in an exclusive interview, said he personally does not believe such a war is in prospect "because neither the Soviet nor American publics wants war."

He warned, however, "the outbreak of a third world war will inevitably lead to revival of Japanese Imperialism and its penetration into China rather than victory for the Kuomintang (Chinese government party.)"

ANNIVERSARY OF JAP INVASION OF MANCHURIA POINTS UP NEW WORLD DANGER IN CHINESE WAR

By GLENN BABB

AP Foreign News Analyst.

The anniversary of one of history's turning points slipped by almost unnoticed yesterday. The world is surfeited with anniversaries recalling tragic and bloody events, and dread of more to come turns mens' eyes to the anxious future rather than the past.

But it was on Sept. 18, 1931, that the Japanese army launched its conquest of Manchuria, thereby ushering in the most terrible 15 years in the human story. Historians a century hence may debate whether the second world war should be dated from Japan's 1931 blow at world peace or Hitler's loosing his armies on Poland Sept. 1, 1939.

The Japanese adventure constituted the first major blow struck by a great power at the world order established after the conflict of 1914-18. It showed the way to Mussolini in Ethiopia and Albania and to Hitler in Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland. It set the Japanese nation, with the militarists in the saddle, on a ecurse that led almost inevitably to Pearl Harbor and he destruction of Japan as a major power.

The Japanese called that 1931 affair "the Mukden incident," since it was on the outskirts of that historic Manchurian city that the first shots were fired. The Japanese claimed they had caught Chinese soldiers tampering with the Japanese-owned South Manchuria Railway. Outside Japan the general belief was that the Japanese army had manufactured an incident to excuse the launch-

ZURICH, Switperland, Sept. 18,—(AP)—Winston Churchill called today for "an end to retribution" for Germany once she is stripped of the power to make war, and for French and German partnership in "some kind of United States of Europe."

The British war-time prime minister's speech at the University of Zurich was the second within two weeks to cheer the Germans. Secretary of State Byrnes at Stuttgart Sept. 6 advocated speedy establishment of a Democracy provisional government for Germany and gave notice that Germany's Eastern borders had not been finally determined.

Must End Retribution.

Churchill made no reference, however, to the American foreign policy controversy arising from Secretary of Commerce Wallace's recent speech and letter to President Truman on Russia.

After citing Germany's crimes Churchill said:

"The guilty must be punished. Germany must be deprived of the

UNITED STATES ABANDONS ALL WAR COMPENSATION FROM ITALY BUT RE-AFFIRMS TRIESTE PLAN

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS, Sept. 19—(AP)—The United states today followed up its relinquishment of reparations claims against Italy with abandonment of its demand for complete compensation for wartime property losses of Allied nationals in Italy.

France also modified her position for full payment.

W. L. Thorp, speaking in the Italian economic commission, said the United States was concerned at the number of claims piling up against Italy and now favored compensation "substantially under" 100 percent.

The developments removed some obstacles to full agreement between Russia and the western powers on this clause of the draft treaty.

Before the same commission, however, the United States served notice on the Slavic bloc that the four power agreement on Trieste and the Italian-Yugoslav frontier was "all one decision" which would stand on its entirety or not at all.

James C. Dunn, U. S. Ambassador to Italy, told the Italian political commission of the peace conference that the American agreement inluded the creation of a truly free state of Trieste.

STOCK MARKET DOWN AGAIN

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—Heavy selling orders flooded the stock market today, plunging prices to a new low for the past 18 months.

Many leading issues dropped from $1 to more than $8 a share as the market broke through its previous low point of the year.

Brokers said a downturn late yesterday, attributed to the labor outlook and concern over government policies, left customers in jittery mood and that when the year's low was penetrated, accumulated selling orders accentuated the decline. Some bidding by bargain hunters was reported bolstering individual issues.

Amonk stocks prominent on the slide were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, U. S. Rubber Eastman Kodak, Cincinnati Gas & Electric and Southern Pacific.

COAL MINERS SO MEAT-HUNGRY THEY CAN'T WORK, LEWIS SAYS; REMOVAL OF CEILINGS IS URGED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—John L. Lewis called upon the price decontrol board today to remove price controls on meat, saying that mines in three states are closing down because miners cannot buy meat.

The United Mine Workers' chief told the board in a telegram that "grave unrest" is spreading throughout all the mining areas, because miners "cannot perform the laborious and hazardous work" of producing coal on a diet of cereals and vegetables.

Lewis listed the three states in which the mines are shutting down as Virginia, West Virginia and Kentucky.

The union leader's telegram reached the decontrol board as it opened the second day of its hearings on demands for restoration of price ceilings to dairy products.

Yesterday was the deadline for written arguments, and letters and telegrams still were arriving at board offices at a late hour. The possibility of a decision during the day appeared remote.

Milk, cheese, butter and other dairy items have been free of control since OPA lapsed June 30.

Sentenced for Murder.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Arthur Robert Boyce, 45-year old house painter, was convicted of murder and sentenced to death today in the slaying of Miss Elizabeth McLindon, London housekeeper for the Greek Royal family.

Miss McLindon was found shot to death June 14 in a house she was readying for occupancy by Princess Cathesin, sister of Greece's King George II.

CONSTRUCTION IS SCHEDULED START IOOF HOME MONDAY

Construction of the New IOOF Home here is scheduled to get under way Monday, Sept. 23, according to plans revealed early this week.

Frank Rundell of Austin, contractor, grand warden of the IOOF Grand Lodge and member of the reconversion committee, has the contract for the first unit of the new home.

The present administration building will be embodied in the new dormitory, kitchen, refrigeration unit and dining room. Wings of one story and a basement will extend to the east and to the west of the present structure, with the kitchen, dining room and refrigeration units to the rear. When this is completed, the present auditorium will be renovated and made into a modernistic appearing structure.

The building a considerable distance to the east of the Home proper, will remain. It formerly was used as a boys' building and prior to that time was the Old Folks Home before the present Home was erected at Ennis.

The old school building and one dormitory have been razed, and the other old buildings will be removed as soon as the construction program has progressed to the proper goal, officials have announced.

The contract for the first unit is $115,000, awarded to Rundell at a recent meeting of the board of trustees of the Grand Lodge. The structure, however, will represent a value of approximately $200,000 or more considering the value of the present administration building from the razing of the two building and the large amount of lumber and other materials salvaged ings mentioned above.

One of the wings will be a dormitory for boys and the other for girls.

Conley Lovelace, superintendent, said that the new building can accommodate 100 students.

More Students Admitted.

During the past couple of months, 14 students and one mother have been admitted to the Home here. The are now 48 children in the local institution as compared with about 30 last spring.

The Home was originally opened in 1886 and approximately 3,000 students have graduated from the school. When the number of students became too small to advantageously operate the Home school, the students were transferred to the Corsicana public school system.

Contractor Rundell is scheduled to arrive in Corsicana Wednesday, while his building superintendent will be here Monday.

Superintendent Lovelace said Monday afternoon that the erection of sheds in which to house and store the tools of the contractor and workers had started at the Home and would be completed within a day or two.

REPUBLICANS PLAN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN IN COMING ELECTION

Plans were outlined at the meeting of the Republican Executive committee in Dallas Monday for the bringing of outstanding Republican leaders and speakers into Texas in the approaching campaign. Mose Blumrosen, Navarro county Republican chairman and leader, attended the sessions.

Blumrosen said an effort would be made to make Texas a two-party state.

Eugene Nolte, San Antonio, Republican gubernatorial candidate, will oppose Beauford H. Jester, Corsicana, Democratic standard-bearer, in the general election for governor of Texas.

Jester defeated Nolte for Railroad Commissioner of Texas two years ago.

Supt. G. H. Wilemon of Kerens will be in Corsicana on Tuesday afternoon to discuss "Laying the Cornerstone" at the re-assembly meeting of the Sam Houston Parent-Teacher Association. He will be introduced by Mrs. C. P. Floyd, president of the Association.

OFFICIAL OF STATE HEALTH DEPARTMENT DISCUSSES DISEASE

Control of diseases which were once classified as solely tropical, but which have been brought back from Pacific areas by returning service men was stressed by V. M. Ehlers, engineering division of the State Health Department, at the regular meeting of the Central Texas Waterworks and Sewerage Assn., at the city hall Wednesday night.

Ehlers, principal technical supervising engineer, stressed the importance of coping with this new threat to national health. He emphasized active research in the waterworks field, and the ultimate application by local waterworks and sewerage units in control of the various diseases.

Some of the diseases brought back ot this country are water borne, and some insect borne, he said, in urging research in each of the fields.

Ehlers praised the Corsicana fight against polio, crediting the intense cleanup drive coupled with generous use of DDT with preventing polio from claiming a single victim in Corsicana proper. He said the program had successfully reduced the number of flies in the city, and that flies were carriers of the disease

E. C. Nelson, garbage disposal expert of the State Health Department, discussed the value of the sanitary fill method of waste disposal. The system involves burying of garbage and germ-carrying waste as a means of sanitary disposal.

About 40 persons attended the meeting, representing most of the Central Texas counties.

UNWANTED SHIPS

The shipping business is caught in a typical post war vise. The War Shipping Administration began in February, 1942, to take over the United States commercial ships and operate them to carry troops and war goods. Gradually they have been returning those vessels to private owners, but the picture has changed since the profitable pre-war days when water commerce was a desirable business.

Expenses have gone up, for labor, food for crews, and handling of cargoes. Income is fixed by the OPA, which still holds shipping rates to pre-war levels. As a result, the private owners are in no hurry to take back their ships. They have a choice of operating at little profit, or even loss, or of staying out of business. Low rail freight rates will offer stiff competition on some coastwise runs when the freight car situation eases.

The War Shipping Administration, which is supposed to fold up by the end of this year, has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to investgate the domestic rates of competing rail and water transport.

Meanwhile United States shipping, which is essential to the restoration of world trade and international business, is bogged down by a confusion of inflexible cargo rates, payroll costs and miscellaneous expenses inherent to the efficient use of commercial vessels. The problem is not one to be pigeonholed. Its effects are too far-reaching.

BOON TO MOTHERS

A mother in Minnapolis who was discouraged by the rate at which her children outgrew their clothing was inspired to make a collectiton of outgrown garments from her family and friends. Her idea was to organize an exchange where mothers could outfit their offspring and at the same time turn in their own lot of outgrown garments.

From a small room and twenty articles, the enterprise has grown to a shop in a downtown center and 5,000 pieces, which include not only clothing but toys and baby furniture. The mothers leave the articles, agreeing on a price, to which is added the proprietor's mark-up. The whole selling price is never more than 50 per cent of the price of the new article. After this agreement, the patron makes her own purchases from the stock on hand.

Many articles almost unobtainable in retail stores can be found in such a mart, and much expense is saved. Many communities could make good use of such an enterprise.

FIRST BABY

When the first wee baby comes
All the house with gladness hums.
Those who love it, near or far,
Instantly promoted are.
Who was husband, who was wife,
Will be Pa and Ma for life;
Who was father down the years
As a grandpa then appears.

Kin, with that first lovely cry,
Put their time-worn titles by.
Some old bachelor, dour and glum,
Promptly uncle has become.
Sisters, one or two or three,
Henceforth aunts will always be;
Two sweet women, both on hand,
Add to mother one word: "grand."

It may be with heart elate
One achieves the title: "great!"
Children playing round about
To the neighbors all may shout,
(Not quite understanding how
We are changed to cousins now.
Thus, by names that babe bestows,
Happier every family grows.

TOYS AS TOOLS

Every secondary school in the country soon will be teaching aeronautics, according to Brig. Gen. H. M. Thatcher, assistant chief of staff to Gen. Dwight Eisenhower. Thatcher, a much-decorated World War II veteran, is deputy commander of the 11th Air Force and was in charge of army activities at the National Air Races.

Youth will welcome the general's ideas on school curriculum. Today's boys seem born air-minded. Manufacturers are catering to this interest with toy planes equipped with their own miniature engines and capable of flying, on a 50-foot controlled wire, at speeds of 75 miles per hour.

Not so long ago electric trains were the glamor toys of boyhood. Truly, the boy is father to the man, and his toys foreshadow adult interest.

TERRITORY NAMES

The rightful ownership of a territory depends, according to some people, on its name. Between Greece and Albania lies a region which the Albanians call Southern Albania; this name gives them a strong claim to control it. The Greeks counter with the name Epirus, given to it in ancient times; this is an argument for Greek ownership. Both names occur in propagandist arguments handed out by the two nations. These leaflets do not always make it clear that the territory is one and the same.

The United States as a neutral might remind them that part of Mexico is known as Lower California. Yet we do not use the name as an argument for annexation.

THE WOMAN'S TOUCH

The association of Bank Women announce that there are 6,000 women bank executives in the country, half of whom have been in bank work only since 1940. Could it be that femininity, which usually looks so attractive in tellers' cages, has anything to do with the all-time high of the nation's savings accounts?

If bankers know what they're about — and they generally do — they'll hang on to the fair sex. There's no denying that women have brought a gentling and humanizing atmosphere into the somewhat austere business of banking.

DROP IN INCOMES

Railroads, in many instances handling their heaviest peace time loads, are dipping into cash reserves to meet deficits. Because of increased costs of labor, other supplies and equipment, investors are realizing 1.65 per cent returns from railroad stocks, or less than half of pre-war periods.

Many colleges, scientific research bodies, cultural and charitable organizations with endowments based on railroad stocks will be forced curtail programs. Individuals whose incomes come largely from such sources, will be affected. Returns from some other industrial investments have fallen similarly.

Here, indeed, is a paradox: during a boom period in American economy, with prices of practically everything soaring, many incomes are cut drastically.

Things are pretty tough when all a Long Island robber can get from a big house is half a dozen chocolates.

NAVARRO JR-COLLEGE OFFICIALLY OPENED BY BEAUFORD JESTER

Beauford H. Jester officially opened Navarro Junior college Wednesday at 9 a. m. in an impressive asembly program at the Corsicana Air Field site. The governor-nominate heralded the college as another step in the county educational program.

"I'm proud of my county for assuming its responsibility in public education and it is a happy privilege to be here with you in the opening ceremonies of this new endeavor for citizenship, Texanism, and Americanism," he said.

The speaker, termed in introduction by Mayor John C. Calhoun as a "neighbor and favorite son of whom we are well pleased," brought reference to the Griffin-Hagen plan submitted to the legislature a number of years back that called for a decentralization of higher learning.

Maximum Education

"The legislature has not yet made this change for efficiency and economy. Who knows that a legislature may yet give the people of Texas the maximum education?"

Dwelling at length on the presents given to the people of Texas by Mirabeau B. Lamar, a president of the Texas republic, in the sphere of education, Jester quoted Lamar's maxim:

"A cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy."

The speaker said that truism was the motto of the University of Texas and a fundamental of democracy.

"Just as long as our people are an educated people and facts and fundamentals are given to the people, we will be sure that no other ism is brought in other than American. Then democracy will stand."

He stated that the college is the foundation of a greater county and state eduactional system. Jester expressed hope that one of the buildings at the college would be named for the late Albert A. Allison, who had dreamed of the day that Navarro county would have a junior college.

Great Opportunity

In closing, the speaker said, "The faculty has a great challenge, the students a great opportunity, and we people a great benediction. May we all measure up to this opportunity and challenge".

Mayor John C. Calhoun introduced the speaker and W. E. McKinney, a city commisioner. L. L. Powell, county judge, introduced Drew Gillen, county commissioner. Calhoun and Powell pledged all aid to the infant institution.

President Ray L. Waller of the college introduced A. G. Elliott, a member of the board of trustees of the Navarro Community Foundation and announced that the foundation, had donated $5,000 to the college for a library. Elliott explained that the money came from the trust set up by the late Frank Neal Drane and told the college to come to the foundation for further aid.

George O. Nokes, Jr., state representative nominate from the 58th district, lauded the governor-nominate for his leadership in education and said the legislature in Austin would be ready to aid the school.

College Board

O. L. Albritton, chairman of the board of education, introduced members of the board present. Those attending were Ralph R. Brown, Corsicana; L. B. Bonner, Eureka; Curtis Patterson, Frost; Bruce McCormick, Blooming Grove; and Lloyd K. Carraway, Corsicana.

Waller introduced W. H. Norwood, superintenlent of Corsicana schools; E. C. Butler, superintendent of Emhouse schools; and Moyne L. Kelly, superintendent of State Home school and said they were in the group that worked for and created the junior college.

Other visitors were Claude Albritton and J. O. Cheney, Navarro. Following his speech, the governor-nominate renewed acquaintances with a number of the students.

Louis Tames Tami Mauriello In Two Minutes, 9 Seconds

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(AP)—They dug up another heavyweight last night, Tami Mauriello, who was not scared of Joe Louis, and Tami woundup like so many of his predecessors have, a-blubbering in his dressing room after having been knocked out by the great negro fighter in the first round.

The Bronx barkeep was not over-awed by the champion. With the very first punch of their title bout in Yankee Stadium, Mauriello clipped Joe on the temple and sent him reeling into the ropes as the throng rose and bellowed its excitement.

And then Louis, more surprised than hurt, took after Tami, tore him apart and left him draped helplessly over the middle rope in 2:09 of the opening stanza. It was Joe's 23rd successful defense of his title.

NO PROGRAM IN TEXAS TO FIGHT HAYFEVER, OTHER DISEASES SAID CRYING SHAME BY HEALTH CHIEF

By MAC ROY RASOR

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Pollen is blowing again in Texas.

But State Health Officer George W. Cox says that he can't do anyting for the sneezing victims of the hayfever scourge—and he thinks it's a crying shame.

"It's one of many ailments in the state going neglected because Texas is without an adequate health research laboratory," Dr. Cox declared.

"The malady is active in different sections of the state and on different persons just about 12 months of every year," he said, adding that he knew of no part of Texas that is entirely free from the malady for everyone.

Big Medical Problem

Viewing allergies as one of the most perplexing medical problems at present, the health officer pointed out that hayfever sufferers fall into a multitude of classifications, depending upon theeir particular allegory to one or more of the many different pollens and dusts.

"It frequently necessitates a study of the disease in individual cases and may indicate very little likelihood of one sure-cure ever being discovered for all cases," he said.

"At present the only positive solution for everyone seems to be the finding of a different climate or section of the country which gives relief. And one person might find relief in the very section where dozens of others are severely suffering."

Facilities Needed

The health officer expressed regret that Texas does not see fit to establish facilities that could study this and numerous other diseases.

"Last year there were 6,212 deaths in Texas from cancer and the state is doing absolutely nothing to try to combat the disease. Other diseases urgently in need of study in Texas are dysentery, polio, typhus and the common cold. Water and milk need to be watched carefully and sewage is a most pressing problem.

"We could establish a first class laboratory such as Texas must have if it is ever to fulfill its obvious duties in the safeguarding of public health for less than half a million dollars. It could be operated for a little more than $100,000 a year.

Millions Saving Seen

"The savings in actual money to say nothing of the prevention of misery and death in the state would run into millions of dollars yearly," the doctor declared.

Dr. Cox reviewed statistics which place Texas 51st among the 53 states and territories and District of Columbia of the United States in per capita appropriation for health services. Washington, D. C. is at the top of the list with an appropriation of $2.81 per capita. Texas' appropriation is 8.1 cents per capita. Only Ohio and Missouri rank lower.

But until some still undiscovered remedy is found or until the state can get an adequate laboratory which might yield some relief, Dr. Cox says his best advice for hay fever sufferers is to keep a full supply of handkerchiefs.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT WARNS OF SCARLET FEVER DANGER NOW

AUSTIN, Sept. 19—(Spl.)—The state department of health has just issued a warning in regard to scarlet fever, as the number of cases usually increases during the fall months. The majority of deaths from this disease occur from October through February.

Scarlet fever is a very contagious and serious disease. Grown people may contact it, but children under 15 years are especially apt to have it, if exposed. It is especially dangerous for children under five years, and Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, warns mothers to "not let your children take any chances with scarlet fever. Call the doctor as soon as the first symptoms appear."

If your child has contracted scarlet fever, the first signs you may notice are that he seems tired, restless and out of sorts. Usually there is a sore throat, chills, vomiting or convulsions and fever. His skin is dry and hot. His tongue is furred, and, under this white covering, it is red and swollen. In ordinary cases, these early signs are followed in a day or two by a rash. Little flat red points, close together, appear first on the neck and chest and soon the rash, very read in color, spreads over most of the body.

The doctor is required by law to report the case to the local health officer. Do your part by following carefully the quarantine instructions which the health officer will give you, since a severe or fatal case of scarlet fever may develop from contact with some one who has only a light attack. Children who have had scarlet fever, or who have been exposed, must not return to school until permission is given by the health officer and physician.

TEXAS UNION RAPS TRUMAN, CLAYTON POLICY POSITION

HOUSTON, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Houston local of the CIO Food and Tobacco Workers Union has sent a telegram to the White House criticizing President Truman and Undersecretary of State W. L. Clayton on the nation's foreign policy. Clayton headed Anderson Clayton and Company, one of the world's largest cotton merchants, before his appointment to public office. Jack Frye, business agent of the local, said that a majority of more than 700 members of the group work for Anderson Clayton and Company.

"When W. L. Clayton insists on Secretary Byrnes' get tough policy he may speak for Anderson Clayton and Company but not the cotton workers," the telegram said. "We support the Roosevelt policy of friendship with Russia and support the Democratic movements of Europe and the colonial peoples."

Frye said "this was brought home to the membership by the way Will Clayton went to talk with the president and then Mr. Truman changed his whole policy."

Lost, strayed or stolen: Howard Thompson of Dallas was late to work but he had a wonderful excuse.

A burglar entered his house, took his alarm clock.

Albert M Jackson of Dallas is a sound sleeper, too.

He told police that he retired to his bedroom, placed his billfold under his pillow, went to sleep.

The next morning the billfold was gone. So was $370.10.

One hundred and four year old Sam Hammer of Hillsboro is on the trail of a thief.

Someone stole a horn handled .45 pistol from his abode. He said he had acquired the gun back in the 1870s when he was punching cattle in the West.

He said he'd like to do a little punching now, too. He'd like to punch whoever took the gun.

If you think the wild West is no more, look at this:

In Abilene, eight saddles were stolen in two robebries. The saddles were valued at $1,900.

A mystery story fan, no doubt, was the person who broke into a produce firm in Dallas and took $81 in cash.

He left a calling card signed "The Black Heron."

The meanest thief in Abilene, however, says the Abilene Reporter News, was the one who broke into the Baptist church, took an adding machine and a burlap curtain.

He likes them because they're giving better mileage and stand up better in rough, tough, day-in-and-out taxi service. But for me, I like that wide, flat tread. OUTWEARS PREWAR TIRES

Before the new B.F.Goodrich passenger car tire was offered for public sale, it had passed over 17 million miles of the roughest, toughest type of testing . . . in service on taxi fleets (as Mr. Thomas describes above) . . . on police cars, and on the B.F.Goodrich tires on fleet, even at high speeds.

Today, millions more miles of testing are behind it. And hundreds of millions of miles of user-service support the results. B.F.Goodrich perfected a stronger tire body by using stronger cords and more of them . . . extra strength that means better resistance to bruising and damage from accidents.

Vegetables Thrive On Hiroshima Soil Blasted By A-Bomb

HIROSHIMA—On soil seared by the first atomic bomb ever loosed in warfare, the Japanese are raising a bumper vegetable crop, quieting fears the ground might be barren for years.

Kyodo News Agency says many individual yields are even better proportionately than in the surrounding countryside which escaped the atomic blast.

The citizens of Hiroshima have planted vegetable gardens around the temporary homes they have built among the city's ruins.

TEEN TALK

Dear Judy:

So many of the kids have been writing to ask if there is some key to being popular that it seems maybe we should dig some advice for 'em.

Daisy Klepper of St. Paul writes that she is pretty, dresses well and has a nice figure—but she can't get dates. Now, why do you suppose that is? Daisy answers in the next paragraph by sawing "I am very shy."

Naturally a gal who is striving for popularity can't be bashful. She's got to put her best foot forward or be content to sit in the corner. Next, she's got to ask herself: "What can I offer the gang?" If she sings or plays the piano, the crowd will love it.

Supposing she's a home girl who can't sing, dance or act foolish. Well then she's got to figure out what she can do well. Maybe she's a good cook. In that case the easiest way to make the gang drool is to throw some kind of a hep-witch. Make something special and be sure it's filling. If it's a cold afternoon or evening whip up some beef stew, spaghetti, chile con carne and some super-light biscuits or rolls. You won't be unpopular long.

The boys in the gang will also think you're super chips if you are considerate of their Indians. For instance when a boy takes you out, instead of having a sundae or the special club sandwich you ought to be able to settle for a plain ice cream soda and ham sandwich. Unless of course you've tagged a jackpot with a boy on the end of it.

COMPLETE CHECK OF TEXARKANA ELECTION NOT YET AVAILABLE

TEXARKANA, Texas, Sept. 19.—(AP)—A complete check of votes cast in one of the city wards has delayed the official canvassing of results of Tuesday's special city election to name a mayor and three aldermen.

Councilmen said the canvass would be made this afternoon.

Leaders in the election were W. N. Harkness, candidate for re-election, and Luther McClure, Clyde Bane and Bruce Cunningham for aldermen.

The election was called to fill vacancies created when Harkness and three aldermen resignned after three aldermen had been indicted on various charges of bribery, accepting a bribe or consent to accepting a bribe.

power to re-arm and make another aggressive war. But when all this has been done as it will be done, as it is being done, then there must be an end of retribution."

German Government Urged.

Churchill called for a federal government for Germany, saying "The ancient states and principalities of Germany, newly joined together into a federal system might take their individual place among the United States of Europe."

Declaring that "We dwell strangely and precariously under the shield and protection of the atomic bomb," Britain's war-time prime minister said Europe needed a regional organization within the nations.

"France and Germany must take the lead together," he said. "Great Britain, the British Commonwealth of Nations, mighty America and, I trust, Soviet Russia—for then, indeed, all would be well—must be the friends and sponsors of the new Europe and must champion its right to live and shine."

Atom Bomb Danger.

Speaking of the urgency of finding a solution of the world's problems, he said "The atom bomb is still only in the hands of a state or nation which we know will never use it except in the cause of right and freedom, but it may well be that in a few years this awful agency of destruction will be widespread and the catastrophe following its use by several warring nations will not only bring to an end all that we call civilization, but may possibly disintegrate the world itself."

"There is no reason why a regional organization of Europe would in any way conflict with the United Nations," Bditain's war-time premier declared.

"There must be a spiritually great France and a spiritually great Germany," he continued, "because a United States of Europe would make the material strength of individual nations less important."

League Failure Cited.

The League of Nations did not fail because its principles and conceptions were wrong, he contended but because the states which created the league deserted it.

To create a United States of Europe, Churchill added, "all that is needed is the resolve of hundreds of millions to do right instead of wrong and to take as a reward the blessings instead of the cursings."

"If Europe were once united in sharing its common heritage, there would be no limit to the prosperity, happiness and glory which 300 or 400 millions of persons would enjoy."

To this writer it seems that Wallace's speech was not as carefully put together as his letter to the President.

For that reason, the question probably can be raised fairly whether he said things in his speech which he may not have have meant at all. For example: Isolationism.

Distrust Explained.

This would not be the first time Wallace has been accused of saying less than precisely what he had in mind. And some things Wallace has said in the past have been turned upon him.

But again, in this letter to the President, Wallace set out to show reasons for Russia's distrust of this country and our distrust of Russia.

He heavily documented the case for the Russians, why they might distrust us. But he only sketchily suggested why this country might be jittery about Russia.

Because of this, readers of the letter may feel they've been left to guess why this country has a "get tough with Russia" policy.

ing of a carefully laid plan of conquest.

Once again Mukden is the center of warlike developments and Manchuria is a battleground. Despite the continuing efforts of American peacemakers, China's civil war is rising to new heights of ferocity and the chances of negotiated peace are fading. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's own chief of staff, Gen. Chen Cheng, has arrived at Mukden fresh from conferences with his master at the summer capital, Huling, and both Nationalists and Chinese Communists say that this presages an all-out Nationalist campaign to destroy the Communist hold in Manchuria, the richest prize of the conflict.

The first strategic aim appears to be to drive a wedge between the Communists who still hold most of Manchuria and Yenan, the Communist capital in Shensi several hundred miles to the west.

Whether such a slicing of communications would prove a mortal blow to the Communists is doubtful. Their armies live largely off the country. And the Manchurian Communists doubtless will fight to the end to maintain themselves in the northern provinces adjacent to a friendly Communist power, Russia.

The Soviet armies have been withdrawn from Manchuria, and as far as the evidence goes Russia is maintaining a correct neutrality toward the Chinese strife. Nevertheless, the struggle in China is one phase of the world-wide contest between the Communsit and Democratic nations, and it is difficult to see how long it can continue without producing repercussions far beyond China's borders.

WALLACE

mentioned a "deal" and a "this for that" arrangement.

"That is absolutely untrue," Ross declared. "There was no deal or anything resembling a deal and I say that from first hand knowledge."

Ross Attends Conference

Ross was present during the latter part of a two and a half hour conference yesterday between Mr. Truman and the commerce secretary, which ended with Wallace still a cabinet member. It was at this meeting that Wallace agreed to make no speeches or public statements until the Paris conference ends.

In response to qeustions, Ross said he was unable to say what led to Wallace's decision. He said the secretary was the proper person to discuss that.

One report said that the "something in return" Wallace was supposed to have extracted from the chief executive was an implied promise to promote some changes Wallace advocates in foreign policy.

"Nothing To Report"

But Ross repeated twice that there was absolutely nothing to any report of a deal.

Ross disclosed that Mr. Truman had tried to call Secretary of State Byrnes in Paris by telephone this morning but "atmospheric disturbances" prevented. They probably will be in communication later in the day.

So far as is known here, Mr. Truman has not been in direct touch with Byrnes since Wallace's implied criticism of this country's policy toward Russia, voiced in a speech last week. However, the president has conferred frequently with Undrsecretary of State Will Clayton, and in fact scheduled a conference with him this noon.

Dispute Continues

While Wallace stepped to the sidelines in the row over American foreign policy, the dispute continued unabated inside the cabinet.

Moreover, top administration officials made clear that the compromise truce by which Wallace will make no public utterance until the end of the Paris peace conference next month does not settle any of the basic issues he raised—either concerning American relations with Russia or Wallace's own future in the cabinet.

Mr. Truman did, however, act swiftly to make public a joint Army-Navy declaration that this country has no thought of making war on the Soviet Union.

War Plans Denied

While Secretary of State Byrnes, whose policies have been the target of Wallace's criticism, maintained his silence in Paris, Secretary of War Patterson and Navy Secretary Forrestal became the latest to jump into the affray.

In a letter to Mr. Truman which the chief executive made public last night shortly after he ended his two hour and 23 minute conference with Wallace, Patterson and Forrestal denounced as untrue a Wallace charge that one "school of military thinking" advocates a "preventive war" against Russia before Russia makes atomic bombs.

Release of the letter was widely regarded as a gesture to reassure the Kremlin of America's peaceful intentions toward the Soviet Union.

As for the public debate over relations with Russia which Wallace began in New York last Thursday, the secretary himself made clear that he has yielded only temporarily to the president's efforts to silence him.

The generally assumed purpose of the temporary arrangement is to avoid embarassing Byrnes in his dealings with Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov and others at Paris. Meanwhile, the capital awaited some indication from Byrnes whether he is satisfied with the compromise settlement in contrast with Mr. Truman's reported plan earlier to give Wallace only the choice of shutting up on foreign policy altogether or leaving the cabinet.

The compromise decision was announced by Wallace late yesterday as he left his long meeting with Mr. Truman.

He read to several score newsmen in the White House lobby these words he had scribbled on a sheet of paper:

"The president and the secretary of commerce had a most detailed and friendly discussion, after which the secretary reached the conclusion he would make no public statement or speeches until the foreign ministers conference in Paris is concluded."

Under a barrage of questions, Wallace said that:

By the foreign ministers conference he meant the peace conference.

President Truman "is very confident about peace with Russia."

The president did not raise the question of his resignation. He still stands "absolutely" on his foreign policy speech in New York last Thursday night, which marked the public opening of his campaign for a change in American policy toward Russia.

As to whether he intends definitely to break his silence once the Paris meeting ends, his dictated statement "is sufficient for the moment."

Maintains Honesty

Asked specifically what led to his decision to give up his public campaign temporarily, Wallace replied. "The fact that I am an honest man." Some assumed he meant by this that he preferred silence to having his speeches censored by the White House or the state department.

As a result of the decision Wallace cancelled his scheduled speech next Tuesday in Providence, R. I., and also an earlier radio speech which he had planned to make specifically on foreign policy. He also had planned to make a dozen or more speeches for the Democratic national committee.

speaker who has a wide following among labor and allied elements.

Under terms of the agreement the commerce department head still could take an active part in the campaign if the Paris conference winds up by the Oct. 15 goal now set for it. But the conference might last longer—and the election falls on November 5.

In any event, some Democratic party officials were wondering whether the political harm already done by disclosure of the intra-party disagreement over foreign policy had not been aggravated by the Truman-Wallace compromise truce.

Wallace Followers Angry.

They reasoned this way: The gagging of the outspoken cabinet officer undobutedly will arouse the ire of Wallace followers. The compromise which permits Wallace to remain in the cabinet is not going to set well with the anti-New Deal factions of the party. They wanted Wallace kicked out.

Some Democrats took the view that Wallace followers would have no other place to go in the November balloting because both the secretary of commerce and Senator Pepper (D-Fla) have discouraged third party talk. But most of these party members acknowledged that the result could be a concerted stay-away-from-the-polls move, and that this would be a distinct advantage to the Republicans.

Mesdames Beverly Caldwell and W. E. Huffstutler of Blooming Grove were in Corsicana on Wednesday to attend the membership luncheon at Kinsloe House.

MRS. LILLA BUCK IS FEATURED IN PAPER PRINTED IN GERMANY

A column "Meet This Woman," written by Mrs. Robert Johnson appearing in a recent issue of the Ansbach (Germany) Record, featured Mrs. Raymond Buck, daughter of Mrs. G. D. Blood, Corsicana, route three.

Carrying a picture of Mrs. Buck the following is published:

"This week's honor goes to a gal that hails from "Deep in the Heart of Texas," Mrs. Lilla Buck, wife of M-Sgt. Raymond C. Buck. From Corsicana, Texas. Mrs. Buck, better known as Lil, gets your reporter's vote as "Miss Personality." Not even I could describe her to you except that she is a brunette with flashing brown eyes and a very winning smile. Her pet saying is "girl." Sgt. Buck spread the word around that Lil was a super cook and I am inclined to agree with him having enjoyed one of her delicious Mexican dinners some nights ago.

"During the war while Buck was serving in the Pacific, Lil worked for the Consolidated Steel as an arc welder building transport ships.

"Asked the biggest thrill in her life and Lil replied: "When the ship pulled out of New York harbor starting the voyage to Germany and seeing my apartment when I arrived here."

"Lil was one of the first enlisted men's wives to arrive in Ansbach and the very day of her arrival the Bucks celebrated their 17 months of wedded bliss. Our hats are off to the gal with the typical Texas drawl, Mrs. Lil Buck."

PLANE WRECKAGE—Above is the wreckage in which Hugh Gillespie, Corsicana, 22, Texas A. and M. College student, was fatally injured late Saturday afternoon near the municipal airport. H. R. Stroube, Jr., 26 brother-in-law to Gillespie, also of Corsicana, was critically injured in the accident. Stroube was attended by Dr. Vern Mason, Los Angeles specialist, who treated Howard Hughes, famous motion picture producer and industrialist, for similar injuries several weeks ago.

Corsicana, Bardwell Residents At Rites For John L. Manning

Several Corsicana and Bardwell residents were in attendance Monday at funeral rites for John L. Manning, Dallas, brother of R. J. Manning of Corsicana, who died Friday, Sept. 13. Mr. Manning was reared in Navarro county.

Besides the brother, Mr. Manning is survived by his wife, one son, two daughters, a sister and several nieces and nephews.

Present at the funeral service held at Sparkman-Brand chapel, Dallas, with the Rev. William Elliott, Jr., and Dr. W. A. Criswell officiating, were: Mr. and Mrs. B. Marsh, daughter, Mrs. J. C. Rennels, and grandson Don, Mr. J. J. Burk, Mrs. George Boyd, Mrs. Anna Evans, and Mrs. Lela Benson, all of Corsicana; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Manning, Bardwell; Mr. and Mrs. J. Miller, and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Manning of Fort Worth.

Burial was in Restland Memorial Park, Dallas.

Food Requirements Of Child Stressed By Health Officer

Discussing the food requirements of a child enjoying maximum health, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Helath Officer, has stressed the importance of a well-rounded diet and stated that a healthy and well-nourished child enjoys life and does well in school because he is physically fit.

Dr. Cox stated further that when a child is in good health, his appetite is good, elimination is regular and sleep is sound and untroubled, all of which contributes to his progress in school.

"A child's appearance can usually help parents to judge the state of his nutrition. A well-nourished child has good skin color and there is a moderate padding of fat over the bones and muscles of the arms, legs and body. Muscles are well developed and strong. Teeth are good and the gums are firm and light pink", Dr. Cox said.

The State Health Officer stated that a delicate, hard-to-plase appetite or a tired feeling after a little exertion indicates possible malnutrition or the beginning of an illness, and the child should be seen by the family physician.

Required as a diet for the preschool child and those of school age, Dr. Cox listed milk, fruit, vegetables, eggs, meat, fish or cheese, cereal and bread and added that cod liver oil and other vitamin preparations may be useful in winter and early Spring but they should always be prescribed by the family physician.

ALLEN FRANKLIN.

Little Allen has gone to Heaven,
Where he can rest in peace;
No sorrow or no suffering
Will disturb his peaceful sleep.

Why our Saviour took him
We'll never understand;
But we know he'll be happy
In the Promised Land.

We sympathize with his mother,
And his dad and his twin brother, Alton,
And sisters two, and all his loved ones,
Who are so brave and true.

Little Allen now is resting,
With the angels there on high;
And we must try to meet him,
When our time comes to die.

Allen, how we'll miss you,
Dear, you'll never know:
What this has done to us,
To have to let you go.

Let's all try a little better
To love and understand,
So we can be an angel
And join our Allen band.

GOVERNMENT RETURN TO FUNDAMENTALS IS URGED BY NOMINEE

BY GROVER HEIMAN
Daily Sun Staff.

Beauford H. Jester, governor-nominate of the Democratic party, told his hometown friends Tuesday that we will remain a strong people as long as we get more satisfaction out of rodeo than we do out of hi-de-ho.

Speaking to an overflow audience of over 400 at the weekly luncheon of the Lions club in the YMCA gym, Jester spoke out strongly for a return to the fundamentals of government.

"There never was a better time than now for Texans and Americans to get back to fundamentals. We need to apply to our present day life and living the basic principles of the government, economic stability, and religious faith that builded a great state and nation."

The first citizen of Corsicana, speaking in the Corsicana YMCA, which his father, the late Lt. Gov. Geo. T. Jester helped found 66 years ago, said that there never was a better time than now for the individual Texan and American himself to employ and demand that his government—local, state, and national—employ these sound fundamentals.

After tracing the growth and organization of the fair, Jester paid tribute to those responsible for the outstanding event.

"We Texans lay great stress and importance on the agricultural and livestock fairs and rodeos we hold in our various communities. These fairs are important. They are helpful. They require community effort and cooperation. They cement community spirit. They encourage bettering of our basic products of Texas: crops, cattle, livestock, and poultry. These things are fundamental to the growth and development of Texas."

The governor-nominate, who headed the mammoth parade down the main streets of the city in the morning, declared that our rodeos are fundamentally Texas.

"Man, horse, and cattle match wits, skill, and strength on the ground. It took all of these factors to help build Texas and the South west."

Tribute To Edens.

Jester paid tribute to the leadership and effort of J. N. Edens, president of the fair association, whom he termed as a trail blazer. He also traced the history of the county and the great number of former residents and natives who have made names for themselves in the state and the nation.

"One thing we Navarro county and Corsicana residents can say is that our community was settled by God-fearing men and women who emphasized the home, the church and the school. This county has given men and women of leadership and character."

The speaker said that the genius of these men is that they have been sound fundamentally. He went on to say that the people of the county don't regard them anymore than they do the governor-nominate, but regard the qualities of simplicity and sincerity. He thanked the people of the county for their efforts and support in his campaign.

Facing Crisis.

"Our country is facing another great crisis. We've just emerged from another great war that was to make the world safe and free. In the first world war we fought to make the world safe for democracy.

"Our own failure as governmental policy to erect a world organization for peace, our failure to be prepared brought us into another war. May I say as an individual, just as one who has been observant, I say the challenge of all this we have today finally comes back to the individual. We'll never have a world peace organization unless the teachings of Jesus Christ are applied to that organization."

Jester said that America was great, as long as we adhere to the fundamentals that the individual is supreme and that the state exists for him and not him for the state. He decried the problem of labor and management in the state.

Texas People First.

"The people of Texas come first and there is a path where the majority abide. The farmer, the rancher, the merchant, the professional man, they are the people. They are the ones that support industry, which pays labor the high wages. The people have said there must be a responsibility: Labor and management must be responsible to the individual."

Fred Harvey, past president of the Lions club and past governor of District 2X, introduced the speaker. He also introduced Price Daniel, attorney general-nominate, a boyhood friend.

Daniel said of Jester, "He has charted a path, the People's Path, and I want to pledge here in his own hometown, my fullest co-operation."

Guests Introduced.

Joe Butler introduced prominent out-of-town guests of the Fair Association at the luncheon. In the group were Congressman Olin E. (Tiger) Teague of the Sixth District; Judge Frank Wilson of Dallas, congressman-nominate; State Senator James Taylor of Kerens; Hon. Earl B. Mayfield, Tyler, former United States senator; Judge Bascom Gist, Tyler; Col. Carl Phinney, Dallas; State Senator-nominate Fred Harris, Dallas; State Senator Buster Brown of Bell county; George O. Nokes, representative (state) nominate; Mayor Roscoe Carnite of Fort Worth, Col. E. P. Whitley of Austin, and other distinguished guests.

Sam B. Werner, president of the Lions club, presided at the meeting. He called upon Mayor John C. Calhoun to introduce guests and members of the city commission. County Judge Lonnie L. Powell introduced county officers in attendance.

Werner introduced presidents of the local service clubs and veterans' organizations. J. N. Edens Fair Association president, and Col. John Garner, director of the parade, were introduced.

It was disclosed that the Lions club float had won first prize as the best entry and the prize money of $50 was given to Jackson school by the club. Werner said the Jackson float was one of the best and the money was donated to the school.

The Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, pastor of the First Methodist church, gave the invocation.

Congressman and Mrs. Olin E. Teague and family, who were en route from Bryan to Washington, D. C., were spend-the-night guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Bryant on Tuesday evening.

OLDEST LAW INSISTS UPON SOCIAL JUSTICE FOR LABOR*

Mosaic Code Demands Fair Wage, Promptly Paid - - Its Provision for the Welfare of the Stranger - - Jesus Lays Down Highest Motive for Lowliest Service - - Law of the 'Inasmuch'

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

Our world is slowly catching up to the Bible. The streams of social legislation now being enacted are but an inevitable consequence of the old, old law of Moses and Jesus. After long centuries of oppression of labor, and the slow extinction of slavery and serfdom, we find ourselves studying such explicit law as this passage from today's Lesson:

"Thou shalt not oppress an hired servant that is poor and needy, whether he be of thy brethren, or of thy strangers that are in thy land within thy gates:

"At his day thou shalt give him his hire, neither shall the sun go down upon it; for he is poor, and setteth his heart upon it; lest he cry against theee unto the Lord, and it be sin unto thee."

Justice For the Stranger

And pending legislation and public spirit in more than one government body, upon foreign-born and immigrants, is covered by another Lesson quotation from Moses:

"Thou shalt neither vex a stranger, nor oppress him; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt.

"Ye shall not afflict any widows, or fatherless child.

"If thou afflict them in any wise, and they cry at all unto me, I will surely hear their cry."

All of this is awesome. It puts behind our new laws and our new mood the very authority of God Himself. It reveals Divine justice as modern as "Grapes of Wrath." When long-established usage and power promotes oppression of even the poorest individual it runs directly counter to the inspired word. Wages and living conditions are not mere factors in an economic problem: they are a part of the Law of the Eternal. The justice and love of the Father above are involved.

Over and over again it needs to be said that the only "way out" of our present difficulties is God's way. When labor unions and employers and politicians become awake to their responsibility to the Living God, then, and then only, will our problems be solved. God is not indifferent to man's lot; man dare not be indifferent to God.

"Still behind the dim unknown,
Standeth God within the shadow,
Keeping watch above His own."

Most discerning men perceive that some form of religious revival, some awaking awareness of the Eternal, is the only possible remedy for our portentous times. Our deepest thought echoes the preacher's cry, "Get right with God," and all else that is wrong will be made right. We hear much of the "rights" of this or that group; and too little of the "rights" of the Omnipotent.

Sojourners, Widows, Orphans

While it promises spiritual prosperity to the obedient, the Bible is yet the book of the under dog. Its voice is raised, from first to last, in behalf of the poor, the afflicted, the oppressed, the widow, the orphan and the stranger. In its pages the high and haughtily are brought low; the rich suffer the fate of Dives and the oppressed come to the reward of Lazarus.

Yet is is no text-book of classism. It cites instances of the godly rich and of the wicked poor.

Concern for the "sojourner," or stranger, reveals the Bible emphasis upon hospitality. We in the West do not pactice the Orient's welcome to the stranger: many modern houses are built without guest rooms, and families grow up without ever having experienced the privilige of sharing meals with strangers. In the mass we treat immigrants as undesirable and inferior, which is not the Scriptual way. Significantly, The Saturday Evening Post recently described the changed attitude of Texas toward its Mexican myriads.

Widows and orphans figure largely and sympathetically in the Bible. To care for them is defined as one evidence of religion pure and undefiled. Jesus Himself had a widowed mother, and while expiring on the cross He provided for her welfare. Modern legislation is catching up with Bible in its care for these two needy groups.

The Test and Reward

In striking fashion, that deserves much pondering, Jesus lifts all services of the needy up to a high level. For he identifies Himself with every recipient. Good deeds are done unto Him. Spiritually minded persons find the loftiest motive for ministry in this amazing truth that Jesus Himself is served by every good deed. Here is the Scripture warrant, in the words of the Master Himself.

"For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in:

"Naked, and ye clothed me; I was sick, and ye visited me; I was in prison, and ye came unto me.

"Then shall the righteous answer Him, saying, Lord, when saw we Thee an hungered, and fed Thee or thirsty, and gave Thee drink?

"When saw we Thee a stranger, and took Thee in or naked, and clothed Thee?

"Or when saw we Thee sick, or in prison, and came unto Thee?

"And the King shall answer and say unto them, Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.

—Matthew 25:40.

Go, labor on; spend and be spent—
Thy joy to do the Father's will;
It is the way the Master went;
Should not the servant tread it still?

—Bonar.

The light of friendship is like the light of phosphorus, seen when all around is dark.

—Crowell.

There is no death!
What seems so is transition
This life of mortal breath
Is but the suburbs of the life Elysian
Whose portal we call death.

—Longfellow.

The love of God is the ultimate reality, the deepest and strongest force in the universe; and it is revealed to the man who resolutely girds himself to the conflict.

—David Smith.

IN MEMORY OF S. L. HOBBS

By Mrs. Marvin C. Bledsoe.

His going was like a two-edged sword,
That cut the last string in my heart,
For he was the beloved of my dear friend,
And the father of my dear Nadine.
He believed earth has no sorrows
That heaven cannot heal,
Perhaps I could, too, believe it:
If only I could be still.
Be still and know that I am God—
The Scriptures sing to me,
This I must do every single day,
In yielding my will to Thee.
Let me ne'er forget his soul,
As I saw it bringing forth
Its abundant yield or kindest deeds,
To men of every worth.
"He cannot be cut off from me,"
I hear his sweet child say,
"His teachings I will not mury
And he is here today."
"His teachings I wll not bury
In some corner, dark and deep,
Where I would have to uncover,
And thus restore my grief.
But I'll have them with me,
Always without and within.
So everyone that passes by
Can see our S. L. again."

Miss Mariella Nutt, Eddie Ellington Take Nuptial Vows

The marriage of Miss Mariella Nutt, daughter of Chief of Police and Mrs. Bruce Nutt, to Eddie Ellington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ellington of Chatfield, was solemnized at the Fifth Avenue Church of Christ on Friday evening at 7 o'clock with Frank J. Dunn, minister of the church, officiating.

Massive floor baskets of white gladioli and asters, flanked by tall white tapers in floor candelabra, fashioned an attractive setting for the single ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a model suit of winter white wool, with navy accesories and a corsage of gardenias.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Jackie Blakeney, and John W. Nutt, brother of the bride, served as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Corsicana High School, and for the past two years has been employed as junior secretary for the Lone Star Gas Company.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Corsicana High School, returned to the States in October from two years' service in the European Theater of Operations.
